

Il Duce Against War Over Danzig

Such Is Report Heard In Rome

Declare Hitler Was Set To Move On Danzig On Last Friday

VERSAILLES TREATY ELIMINATION SEEN

(International News Service)

ROME, Aug. 30.—A demand for elimination of the last vestiges of the Versailles Treaty will be thrust forward in the European "peace plan" which Premier Benito Mussolini is set to present if Anglo-German negotiations break down, it was believed today.

Distinct Liability

This was hinted in an editorial in Popolo d'Italia, Il Duce's own newspaper in Milan, which it was assumed Mussolini inspired and Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian foreign minister, wrote.

"In order to remove the ills afflicting Europe for all time, it will be necessary to eliminate Versailles," the paper said.

"Out with Versailles! Out with European and non-European pains!" Il Duce is working without a moment's respite to heal Europe... But its peoples will never have peace until they are cured, and they will not be cured until they have eliminated without exception all the causes of their ills."

The premier consistently has pointed into Chancellor Hitler's ear that there must be no war over Danzig. This was relayed to Hitler at Berchtesgaden by Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano, when the Fuehrer first outlined his plans for a Danzig stroke.

According to Italian sources, Hitler planned to occupy the free City last Friday. As soon as Mussolini heard this, he communicated with Hitler several times, successfully urging the German leader to hold back his army and attempt negotiations.

L'OEuvre who has close foreign office connections, reported considerable internal dissent in Germany among civilians and army quarters. "At Augsburg," she wrote, "a storm troop officer named Birkner was reported shot for having 'intolerably criticized the German-Soviet pact.'

She also reported differences between Joseph Goebbels and Joachim Von Ribbentrop, the German propaganda and foreign ministers, over the pact.

Mussolini To Appeal

Mme. Tabouis said she believed, on the basis of reports from well-informed circles in Rome, that Premier Mussolini plans to make a last-minute appeal for an international conference.

Evacuation of women and children from Paris was accelerated, but at the same time authorities were wading every delay as operating in favor of the democracies.

"It would seem that today we should know where we stand," said Premier Edouard Daladier to newspapermen, referring to the latest note of Chancellor Hitler to Britain.

Mobilization Completed

These Berlin-London exchanges, it was pointed out, have given France time practically to complete mobilization, and provided Britain and Poland with the opportunity to fill in military gaps.

France, Britain and Poland, without much hope that it will do any good, accepted the proffers of King Leopold of Belgium, and Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands, to use their good offices for peace. But no machinery seems to be in motion for Leopold and Wilhelmina actually to start mediation.

leage of the senate Republicans and anti-new deal Democrats.

An "international incident" was likely as a result of the continued detention in New York harbor of the German super-liner Bremen. German officials, anxious to get the big passenger liner on its way back to a safe home port, declared that American customs officials were guilty of an "unfriendly act" in preventing the ship's sailing.

This was hinted in an editorial in Popolo d'Italia, Il Duce's own newspaper in Milan, which it was assumed Mussolini inspired and Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian foreign minister, wrote.

"In order to remove the ills afflicting Europe for all time, it will be necessary to eliminate Versailles," the paper said.

stopped for a red traffic light. He said:

"The right rear wheel of the truck tractor broke off. The fire started just like you would light a match. The driver leaped out of the cab, hollered for help and ran."

Flames immediately enveloped the truck. Shooting 60 feet in the air, they were visible throughout the borough.

Flames sprayed over nearby houses. Within a few minutes the homes of Philip A. Greber and Mrs. Frank Mathews were burned to the ground.

Building Gutted

Two other nearby buildings were gutted out as their occupants fled to a garage. They were a barbecue of James Frate and the home of Mrs. Mary Ferraro.

Fire ran with the water from firemen's hoses.

A hotel and beer garden owned by Augustine Fasano and a confectionery operated by C. C. Thompson then were attacked by the fuel-fed flames. Trolley lines were severed and fire hose in the street was consumed. Light service was disrupted.

It was two hours before the fire had been brought under control.

Mrs. Nellie Zygmuntak, trapped with her family on a second floor, lowered eight children from a rear window on a rope fashioned from bed clothes. Then she jumped, injurying her right leg.

BUY IN NEW CASTLE—Order Directed At Pencil Companies

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—Thirty companies manufacturing approximately 75 per cent of the woodless lead pencils produced in the United States, were ordered by the federal trade commission today to discontinue entering into agreements resulting in unlawful restraint of competition through fixing and maintaining uniform prices for their products, and other practices.

In behalf of the New Castle group T. N. Hockman, wreckmaster, presented Mr. Fisher with a handsome wrist watch. Cliff Davis who has been promoted from New Castle to Youngstown, as car foreman, was to have been presented with a watch also, but could not be present.

Mr. Fisher responded to the gift and to the addresses made concerning him. He thanked the employees for their co-operation, asked for the same co-operation for his successor and asked for the continued good wishes of the New Castle men for himself.

BUY IN NEW CASTLE—NON-RESIDENTS

Request has been made to the city clerk, city hall, by 11 persons living in properties bordering the city limits for garage service at a cost of $6.00 per family. They were provided with forms to be filled after which they will be returned to the city clerk and service will get underway.

Some weeks ago council adopted an ordinance providing this service.

Samuel R. Houk has been given a building permit by the bureau of building, city hall, for the remodeling of a frame dwelling at 912 Maryland avenue. The job will cost $100, according to an estimate. Pa Newc notes that Mahoning grange is going to hold a fair on Friday, September 8, at which farm products of the neighborhood are to be displayed. We always like to hear of these local exhibits, as they indicate enterprise and a community of interest. It is human nature to want to know what our friends and neighbors are doing. We don't know of any better way to gratify that interest than by bringing the products of our labor to a local grange hall.

Candidates over in Butler county seem to be concentrating on newspaper advertising in conducting their campaigns this year. Nearly all of them have double column pictures, and recent issued of a Butler paper show that they are gluttons for space. When the public sees the picture of a candidate often enough, it begins to feel acquainted with him, and this secret of successful political advertising seems to be pretty well understood by the Butler county candidates.

LOVELY PARTY FOR MISS BETTIE COLE

Miss Bettie Cole, who will marry Gerald Morris on October 19, was honored at a lovely party Tuesday evening, the occasion being in the form of a miscellaneous shower, given in the home of Miss Fern Cloak, Leasure avenue. Miss Elizabeth Slaver shared as co-hostess.

Summer flowers were used throughout the rooms, adding a gay note of color, and amidst this setting, five tables of bridge were in play. Honor score awards were carried off by Mrs. Paul Shaw of Volant and Miss Matilda "Bunny" Drake.

Lunch was a later pleasure, served by the hostesses at the individual tables, which were prettily rearranged. Immediately following, Miss Cole was requested to read several couplets aloud, which cleverly told her where to look in the house, for a shower of gifts. Upon collecting them, she discovered many beautiful remembrances for use in her future home.

Out of town guests included Mrs. Paul Shaw of Volant and Mrs. C. Norman Zook, nee Esther Jane Caven, Sharon, Pa.

WHO RUN THE CARS?

ONE-THIRD of the car owners in the United States have weekly incomes of $20 or less, according to a recent survey made by the American Petroleum Institute. At the other extreme, persons in the income bracket above $150 a week own only about one per cent of the cars.

The survey shows that 15 per cent of the car owners have incomes of $10 or less a week. Eighteen per cent are in the $10 to $20 a week bracket, 24 per cent in the $20 to $30 bracket, 17 per cent in the $30 to $40 bracket, 15 per cent in the $40 to $60 bracket, seven per cent in the $60 to $100 bracket, and three per cent in the $100 to $150 bracket.

The survey also shows that the average value of all the cars on the highways is only $200. All of which is interesting from a social as well as an economic standpoint.

COMPULSORY CITIZENSHIP

Senator Capper of Kansas proposes a law whereby the 4,000,000 aliens in this country would be required to apply for American citizenship within one year, or else be deported. He explains:

"We have no need, no use, no excuse, no place in the United States, for those who still hold allegiance to foreign governments or foreign groups and refuse to become naturalized citizens. And we want none of their propaganda spread throughout this nation to poison the sources of popular government."

Certainly we do not want alien propaganda spread among our people. But is compulsory citizenship the remedy for the ills he mentions? Can we make aliens into good Americans merely by compulsory repetition of an oath of allegiance? And how about retaliation against our own citizens living abroad, if we did this?

GROWING OLD SLOWLY ISN'T SO EASY

Dr. Donald A. Laird, who has some repute as a psychologist, summarizes in the Rotarian Magazine the well-known rules for growing old tardily, but in concentrating on mental-spiritual qualities he is most concerned in avoiding unhappiness, crankiness and pettiness in the final decades. Health, hobbies and a happy frame of mind are called for primarily, he asserts. Mingling with young people occasionally he considers essential. Keeping peace with relatives, yet not living with them, is a plausible suggestion to avoid becoming crotchety.

His final maxim, "Prepare for old age," is all-inclusive, yet requires more reluctant co-operation with Father Time. Keeping one's life geared to inevitabilities, and being even mindful of the shortness of days, probably would detract from the tranquillity specified in the other conditions, yet when eighteen tries to act eighteen observers perceive a restless defiance of rules rather than efficient adherence to them.

THE CANAL'S BIRTHDAY

The Panama Canal, which played almost no part in the military operations of the World War but contributed much to the prosperity and trade of the post-war period, may be one of the most important scenes of action in the next war, if there is one.

The canal is 25 years old now and Americans in the Canal Zone are celebrating its birthday.

The importance of the canal to our national defense is well-known to all of us. Our naval defense strategy depends entirely upon it. Practically the whole United States fleet is kept on the Pacific Coast but our control of the cut through Central America enables us to shift our battleships to whichever coast is the target of foreign attack.

But the airplane and the increasing accuracy of aerial bombers have at last alarmed congress about the vulnerability of the Canal Zone. The increasing possibility of war in Europe also directs the attention of Americans to the canal.

Any enemy which succeeded in demolishing the locks in the canal by bombing would immediately cut our Navy strength about in half for a period of several weeks. If the invasion were directed at the Atlantic coast and the fleet was in the Pacific, a well-directed aerial bomb would force our battleships to go all the way around South America to reach the enemy fleet.

Congress has recognized this danger and has authorized the expenditure of 277 million dollars to construct a third set of locks which will be wide enough to accommodate the 45,000-ton battleships now being built and which will provide an alternate route if one set of locks should be destroyed by the bombs of enemy fliers.

The Army is also planning to construct new canal defenses. It will spend 53 million dollars on guns and fortifications in the Canal Zone in the near future. Much of this money will go for improvements at Albrook Field at the Pacific end of the canal and at France Field near Colon on the Caribbean.

A hick town is a place where use of the word "whom" means there is a stranger in town.

The three things that cause the most misery to the most people are war, poverty, and lousy public speakers.

One begins to understand why the meek will inherit the earth. The fix it's getting in, only the meek would accept it.

After youth is over, happiness is like aspirin. You don't ask it to make you feel good, but only to stop the hurting.

If you can produce real humor, the world is yours. Look what awful stuff is used now for want of anything better.

It isn't mere vanity that makes a leader think Providence is guiding him. He wants somebody to blame when he crashes.

It isn't true that women are strangers to logic. You should hear the long and devious reasoning that proves it your fault.

There may be something in Darwin's theories. Indians scalped our ancestors, and that spot still has trouble keeping its hair.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

BEDLAM IN SUNDAY SCHOOL

From personal observations and from testimony by parents in various parts of the nation, I conclude that there is in Sunday schools considerable rowdiness among children from about eight to 12. In some instances there is bedlam. It's not unusual for children entering a Sunday school room early to engage in a game of chase, or for them to throw things and push and shove or hit one another during the brief worship service or the lesson.

A number of religious education directors have expressed to me their discouragement with the growing lack of restraint at Sunday school among children of this age. One said: "And often the worst kids are splinters from the pillars of the church!"

Pathetically so, for among the church pillars are some parents who, having themselves had a childhood pretty well-controlled, have become disciples of the advocates of excessive freedom for young children. Apparently it's the parents with fine family traditions and community influence who have been first to relax in home discipline.

Should Isolate Offenders

Now the Sunday school teacher finds that she cannot demand orderly conduct in these rough-necks. She puts up with what no public school teacher would tolerate. I wish she had the courage of her convictions and would isolate the few chronic annovers, regardless of who their parents are.

If I were a Sunday school superintendent, I should find a small nook or room of which some stern man would have charge. To it I would send some of these young hoodlums. Then I should try to find teachers who could make the lessons more interesting than the usual teacher does.

Nevertheless, it is not all a matter of interest, for most of the bedlam is created before and after the lesson period, by children who do not know the alphabet of regard for property or others rights. A certain Sunday school teacher said she trained one "wild" boy by sending him to sit one day with the adult class.

Better Off at Home

I would count it far better moral training for a child of ten to be at home on a vacant lot, or in a park playing ball, or engaging in the rough-and-tumble of the neighborhood playground, than to attend a Sunday school where the type of disorder reigns that is now so common.

But I should like rather to have him in a Sunday school where there is some semblance of order, and an atmosphere of self-restraint makes possible a spiritual attitude, occasionally at least.

I should like to know what my readers have to say about this matter. Why not write me your ideas?

Solving Parent Problems

Q. Should not the child earn his spending money?

A. There are great values in his earning money, as from carrying a paper or from some other job outside the routine home program. But in our modern world relatively few children can have such jobs. For most of them there will have to be an allowance till such time as they are able to earn normally.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

LISTEN AND LEARN

The philosophy of the socially and communally inclined citizens of this nation is often very well expressed by hitch-hikers on the nation's highways. It is never advisable to pick up a hitch-hiker. You just don't know what sort of a chap he is. He may be a criminal; he may be perfectly willing to commit a crime, but as yet without a criminal record. He is very often an envious soul. At any rate, if you pick one up and talk to him, you may get an earful of modern ideas of sociology.

The story is now going the rounds of the press concerning a gentleman who picked up one of these hitch-hikers and engaged him in conversation.

"After the revolution" the passenger said to the owner of the car, "I will be driving a swell car like this and you'll be thumbing along the highway."

"Huh?" said the driver.

"You heard me," replied the passenger. Things won't always be like this. We hitch-hikers will rise one of these days and take what's coming to us."

After thinking it over the philanthropist said, "you're liable to get what's coming to you one of these days."

This remark sounded rather unpleasant to the hitch-hiker, and he ignored it, but continued:

"In the meantime, we are organizing to demand justice and enforce our rights. We want fewer dull stories from the driver, a hot dog at every stop for gas, the right to demand speed when late for appointments, the privilege of . . . don't you know it's extremely hard to turn on the radio when someone is talking?"

There is such a thing as etiquette of the telephone. Don't continue to carry on a long, intimate conversation with a friend, if you are on a party line, and someone is trying to get the line. She MAY need a doctor or help of some other kind.

Just as dangerous is a negative position in its relation to civic and moral matters. One cannot take a position of this nature without laying himself liable to justifiable criticism. While other than a stand for the right is deplorable and unfortunate, it is better to be on the wrong side of the fence than to try to carry water on both shoulders.

The Great Game Of Politics

Peach trees are so heavily laden with fruit this season that many tree owners have been forced to place props under the branches to keep the trees from breaking down under the strain.

Cottage Grove residents are starting their return move to town after spending the summer months in the cool of the out-of-doors.

Street car company employees were in the ward Tuesday afternoon cleaning out the rails and switches of the car line. It is surprising the amount of dirt that collects in a rail in a short length of time.

PERHAPS it is inevitable that politicians should interpret every situation, no matter how dreadful, in terms of politics. But it is a little shocking that while the world holds its breath lest the ultimate calamity befall, New Deal politicians should discuss plans for the stimulation of their third-term movement as though there was not a cloud in the international sky. Better than anything else, it illustrates the character of a group which the New Deal brought out of obscurity and elevated into a position of power for which its inadequacy is as obvious as it is dangerous.

IT is a pity to put this kind of stuff out now—even if it is put out by people unconscious of its incongruity. It is hardly conducive to the nonpartisan spirit. The President must hope to arouse in Congress in the special session for the amending of the Neutrality Act and other necessary legislation which he now contemplates. The truth is that, while during the crisis most opponents of Mr. Roosevelt will be glad to forget politics and support him on nationally needed matters, that does not mean that they will abate either their distrust of his domestic policies or opposition to a third term.

EVEN if war comes and we go in or stay out—the national conventions will be held as usual next summer and the Presidential election in November. Our political processes will not be suspended and there is no reason to think that the tide which has set in against New Dealers and New Dealism will not continue to run. Those who believe Mr. Roosevelt has badly mismanaged the country in a period of peace would be even less willing to have him continue as its head during time of war. Nor will invocation by the New Dealers of that old adage about not swapping horses while crossing a stream ameliorate this feeling. The soundness of that adage depends, on the horse, and, second, on the stream.

Dickeys Surprised In Mormon Temple At Salt Lake City

Hear Great Organ Play Composition Of Garth Edmundson Of New Castle

When Judge and Mrs. Thomas W. Dickey, who returned from an extended western trip Tuesday afternoon, were in the great Mormon Temple at Salt Lake City, they were surprised to hear the big pipe organ play a selection written by Garth Edmundson of New Castle, a neighbor of Judge and Mrs. Dickey on Wallace avenue.

So far as Judge Dickey knew, nobody in the vast audience knew that there were any New Castle visitors present. It was just one of those curious coincidences that sometimes occur in strange places. Both Mr. and Mrs. Dickey were thrilled with the splendor of the Mormon temple, and with the beauty of Salt Lake City. It was one of the finest cities visited during their long trip.

They left New Castle on the second of August, their first stop being at Denver, Col. In a tour of the city they visited the state house, being particularly interested in the museum display of relics and remains of the old west.

From there they went on to San Francisco fair. Their next visit was to Los Angeles, Hollywood, and then to San Diego, where they had a pleasant visit with Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Treadwell, former New Castle residents. Mr. Treadwell's father was founder of the New Castle News.

On the way home they visited the Grand Canyon, making numerous side trips to all the principal points of interest. Judge Dickey was on the bench this morning, and held a short session of court.

G. A. R. Veterans
On Parade Today
In Pittsburgh

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 30.—Union veterans—scarcely more than 100 of the 1700 "boys in blue" still living—gathered in parade formation today for the highlight of the Grand Army of the Republic's national convention.

The parade was made "strictly military" when the veterans ruled woman of affiliated organizations out of the line of march.

Convention officials, however, vetoed the demand of many aged veterans that they be allowed to walk the entire distance of the parade. Most will ride in open cars, it was announced, although some will be permitted to dismount for a short march near the end of the parade route.

The United States Marine Band, 1500 national guardmen and representatives of various veteran's organizations will swell the parade ranks. It was to last an hour and three quarters.

Yesterday the G. A. R. members were honored guests at opening of the annual Allegheny county fair fair in South Park.

HARRISBURG, Aug. 30.—Many persons in Pennsylvania have told Gov. Arthur H. James that they dislike President Roosevelt's proposal to advance Thanksgiving Day one week this year.

The chief executive, who has agreed to go along with the President's plan, said today he has received many letters of protest over the date shifting.

Although "personally opposed" to the change, Governor James said he had decided to string along with Mr. Roosevelt to "avoid the inescapable confusion" of two dates and because of the general assembly law declaring the governor should follow the action of the president in such matters.

"I hope he changes his mind and sets the old date back again," added Governor James.

BERLIN FORESEES IMPORTANT TURN TOWARDS PEACE

to which city might be the scene of a general settlement parley. Among German officials, the Hague seemed to be favored.

Authentic quarters do not admit that a 48-hour time limit has been set for settlement of the Polish-German disputes as indicated by Hitler's own newspaper, Voelkischer Beobachter, but they stressed that each hour and every day were precious for the cause of peace.

Demands Danzig Return

The Belgian ambassador to Berlin, Viscount Jacques Davignon, was among the emissaries who saw Von Ribbentrop today in connection with mediation proposals.

There was believed to be in progress a constant exchange of messages among Berlin, Rome, London and Amsterdam through the medium of special messengers aboard fast-flying planes.

Official quarters stated that no diplomatic contacts were established yesterday between Poland and the Reich government, but it was emphasized that Hitler was standing pat in two respects:

—Return of Danzig and the Corridor regardless of the method.

—Britain must bring pressure to bear upon Warsaw to bring the Poles "into a reasonable frame of mind" without delay.

Rumors again were current that Foreign Minister Josef Beck of Poland may come to Berlin.

Meanwhile, the Fuehrer spent the morning in consultations with Von Ribbentrop and Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, but major decisions awaited word from London.

Hitlers' reply, now in London's hands, is assumed to have reiterating his demands for Danzig and the Corridor, at the same time emphasizing the Fuehrer's desire for a new Anglo-German understanding.

Thus, it is recognized, Hitler is leaving the way open for some sort of step which might lead to a conference of major European powers, such as is being suggested in Brussels.

May Exhum Body Of Late Wife Of Camden Minister

(International News Service)

CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 30.—The body of Theresa Dworecki, wife of the Camden clergyman who allegedly confessed hiring a carnival roustabout to murder his 18-year-old daughter, Wanda, may be exhumed to determine if she really died of "labor pneumonia," authorities revealed today.

Meanwhile, the Camden county prosecutor declared he would seek a speedy trial for the Rev. Dworecki, who he said admitted hiring Peter Schewchuk, 21, of Chester, Pa., to kill his daughter for $100 so he could collect approximately $5,500 in insurance. "This is an iron-clad case pointing directly to the electric chair," detectives said.

Dworecki, police disclosed, received $2,500 from an insurance company on the death of his wife, who collapsed at the breakfast table in their Camden home on July 15, 1938. The body of the minister's strangled daughter was found on a vacant lot in this city three weeks ago.

Fire Destroys Barn And Small Buildings Tuesday

Property Of Phillip Stephenson
Near Willow Grove Destroyed By Blaze

Shortly after 6 o'clock Tuesday evening fire destroyed the barn and several smaller out-buildings on the farm of Phillip D. Stephenson on Vance road, near Willow Grove.

The fire is believed to have started in an oats pile stored in a shed near the barn and spread from there to the barn and a straw stack nearby. The Stephenson granary and a little log house were also destroyed by the fire.

Neighbors and persons passing in automobiles quickly gathered and by forming a bucket brigade saved the Stephenson home and an old frame house that was unoccupied. The frame house caught fire several times but the crowd succeeded in saving the structure.

Animals that were kept in the barn were led to safety before the fire reached them, but the hay crop that was stored in the barn was burned as were several pieces of farm machinery.

DROWSINESS MAY GIVE SIGN OF MENTALLY RETARDED CHILD

Every so often a practitioner comes upon the case of a mentally retarded child. When parents find that the baby, as it reaches the age of six or seven months, doesn't sit up and throw itself around as it should, if they are observant and prudent parents they will see the use of force is necessary sometimes causes such an injury. A very precipitate labor with the sudden change from high pressure in the birth canal to the low pressure outside, sometimes causes trouble.

Whenever the discovery is made it isn't very pleasant for anyone. Sometimes, however, something can be done to bring the child along until he can take a normal place in life.

One of the most common causes of this mental retardation is some injury at birth. But first I must stress the fact that such injuries at birth are not common. So prospective mothers shouldn't get at all upset about the danger of such an injury to their child when it is born.

A long, severe labor in which the use of force is necessary sometimes causes such an injury. A very precipitate labor with the sudden change from high pressure in the birth canal to the low pressure outside, sometimes causes trouble.

Often we see a child who has a severe time at birth, and who has a history of being sleepy and drowsy during the first few weeks of life, suddenly improve. Then you may not hear of the child again until, at the age of about a year, convulsions begin.

The most common sign that there is something wrong with the mental development of a child is that it fails to sit up at the age of six or seven months. Then the mother realizes for the first time that the child has not been following her with its eyes, as other children do when they are two or three months old.

Some parents live in a constant state of fear regarding the mental development of their baby. Now that is very foolish and doesn't help matters a bit. Often, with no sound reason, mothers bring in a baby time and time again because they fancy they have seen some indication of mental retardation.

Liner Bremen Is Still Being Held At New York Pier

New Search Of Vessel To Be Made—Other Liners Also To Be Searched

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Despite the vehement protests of German marine officials, the Bremen, pride of the North German Lloyd fleet, was still held at her New York pier today by U. S. custom officials who declined to permit the vessel to depart for the fatherland pending another search of bunkers, holds and cabins for armaments that might make her a sea raider.

Harry M. Durning, collector of the port, notified ship officials he was dissatisfied with the results of the search made yesterday and that the Bremen could not sail for Germany in compliance with emergency orders until another search was made.

Similar searches were ordered for the Normandie of the French line, the Aquitania of the Cunard-White Star line and the Transylvania of the Anchor line.

Capt. William Drechsel, marine superintendent of the North German Lloyd, declared the search by the 35 custom inspectors as "outrageous" and "an unfriendly act." He requested the German embassy in Washington to ask the U. S. state department for an explanation.

Will Plan Legislation To Clarify Liquor Sales Laws In State

Plan Program For Special Session

Chairman Lyons Of Mercer County Gives Forecast Of Action In Situation

INCREASE IN TAX ON LIQUOR STUDIED

By JOHN PAGET
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Aug. 30.—A definite program to clarify operation of Pennsylvania's $75,000,000 liquor sales monopoly will be introduced at the forthcoming special session. Rep. Thomas Lyons, chairman of the house liquor control committee, revealed today.

Lyons, Mercer county Republican and co-sponsor of the "population-ratio" law limiting liquor licenses, declared the joint state government committee will meet after the primary election and study possible remedial legislation.

The entire liquor problem will be reviewed by a sub-committee, according to Lyons, who guessed that the call for the special session would be issued late this year.

Will Be Recommendations

"There will be specific liquor legislation recommended during the special session," added Lyons, "although its exact nature has not been decided upon." An increase in the liquor tax might help solve the state's need for funds, he said.

The Mercer representative said the sub-committee will try to determine how the liquor control board could appeal to the superior court from decisions which clash with the liquor laws. The board was denied the right of appeal in 1937 by the state senate.

It was pointed out that the board is powerless to appeal a Greene county court ruling upholding legality of sales of bottled liquor for consumption off the premises.

Local option, a major issue in the approaching primary, also would be studied by the legislative group, explained Lyons.

The license-limiting law which helped frame is working out just as it was planned, in Lyons' opinion.

Pig Club Roundup And Auction Held Tuesday Afternoon

Four-H Club Event Is Won By Robert McFate Of North Beaver Township

"Pigs were pigs" at the first annual roundup of the 4-H clubs of Beaver, Butler, Mercer, Lawrence and Venango counties which took place at the New Castle fair grounds

In the morning, the pigs were judged. W. B. Connell, livestock extension specialist of Penn State college, and B. L. Coleman, county agent of Northampton county, judged the entries, the grand champion going to a Berkshire pig raised by Robert McFate of North Beaver township. It weighed 226 pounds.

After the show, the auction took place, starting at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon, and the prices paid were from 65 cents to 75 cents which the grand champion brought.

All told, there were 97 pigs in the show, which represented the summer work of the 4-H club boys and girls from these five counties.

The pigs were purchased by C. L. Clayborn, manager of the Producers Cooperative Commission, and were bought for the Eastern Order buying company. Robert Peebles served as auctioneer.

The event was highly successful and will probably be an annual event.

McCready Heads Preparedness For Disaster Locally

Organization Is Being Developed To Take Charge Should Disaster Strike

(This is the first of a series of articles to be published regarding the sub-committees of disaster preparedness program of Lawrence county chapter American Red Cross. Each of these articles will be of interest to all Lawrence county for a disaster institute is to be held in the chapter Wednesday, September 6, with Maurice R. Reddy as the guest speaker.)

Co-chairman of disaster preparedness, Alex C. McCready, chairman of this committee has multiple duties. He takes immediate command of all responsibilities for all Red Cross relief activities. He calls sub-committees together and authorizes and regulates the commitments the sub-committee may make the first few hours or days. He prepares and formally approves with the whole committee in attendance, the financial budget to cover all anticipated expenditures. The chairman of this committee handles the disaster program until the national organization comes into the chapter.

Mr. McCready has surrounded himself with a number of co-chairmen and anticipates a well balanced disaster program for Lawrence county. He is well informed as to all Red Cross policies and although no one desires to have the Lawrence county chapter function in this capacity, Mr. McCready feels all will be in readiness.

Amateur Radio Operators May Get U. S. Police Jobs

By JACK VINCENT
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—While President Roosevelt holds broad powers to censor or suspend radio broadcasts in event of war abroad, the United States today planned to use the nation's army of amateur ("ham") radio operators to police the air waves when hostilities break out.

While military intelligence experts expected radio, particularly short wave broadcasting, to be the chief propaganda and communications channel in war, the inter-department government committee mapping emergency war plans for this country was also considering regulations for radio.

The "hams," who distinguished themselves by their work in broadcasting messages during the Ohio river floods and other disasters, would be assigned to search the air waves for stations refusing to comply with the government regulations, to pick up code broadcasts and to help ascertain locations of secret broadcast stations when their broadcasts are intercepted.

The president, it was ascertained, can by proclamation seize complete control of radio if the neutrality of the United States is so much as threatened by a foreign war. The federal communications act, in part, says:

"Union proclamation by the president that there exists war or a threat of war or state of public peril or disaster or other national emergency, or in order to preserve the neutrality of the United States, the president may suspend or amend . . . the rules and regulations (for broadcasting) and may cause the closing of any station, or he may authorize the use or control of any station, or its apparatus and equipment by any government department under such regulations as he may prescribe, upon just compensation to the owners."

There are approximately 780 regular radio broadcasting stations in this country.

In addition, the communications act gives the F. C. C. (Federal Communications Commission) power to designate amateur radio stations to assist in promulgations of emergency announcement, and for policing the air waves to track down non-complying stations, or secret or mobile short wave stations. There are some 50,000 short wave stations in the United States, and it was believed that many of them would be assigned to police work in a new world war.

New Castle High Gridders Work Like Trojans Out At Camp

Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh Drills Grid Candidates Under Boiling Sun

Will Break Camp Saturday, Indications Point To Fast Backfield, Heavy Line

Working like Trojans to get in shape for the opening of the football season on Friday night, September 15, the New Castle high school football candidates are holding two workouts daily at Camp Muddy Creek Falls under a hot sun. There are 33 young young men in camp.

Adopting a new policy this year Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh intimated to the writer yesterday that there would be little scrimmaging work while the boys are in camp. "I would rather have the boys in good shape for the stadium workouts next week than to take a chance of having any injuries while there is a lot of fundamental work to be done," was the way P. H. put it.

Tackling Practice

The tackling dummy was rigged up yesterday afternoon by the coaches and for the best part of an hour and a half the boys slammed and smashed the big sawdust filled canvas bag all over the place. Of course a few of the boys, the younger rookies did not get the hang of the thing, but the holdovers like "Dynamite" Castrucci, big John Kuhn, Ralph Cennane, Lindy Lauro, Larry Roberts and others just about broke "Old Heliotrope" into pieces.

The linemen came in for a lot of shoving of canvas bags up and down the field. Also a lot of time was spent in blocking, this being done by a canvas dummy also that the boys throw themselves at. This is a most important part of the game and will get special attention at camp.

Bucks Skip Tires

The backfield men had a lot of fun skipping and zig-zagging thru a set of old tires to get their leg muscles built up. Also to learn that elusive way of side-stepping. There is not one of the fundamentals that is being missed by the hard working coaches.

It is quite likely that an attempt will be made today sometime to shape up a first string or temporary varsity team which no doubt will include we'll say for instance, Lindy Lauro at fullback, Larry Roberts and Otis Burris or Sowinski at halfback posts, with Joe Gender at the fourth backfield man if his cut eye heals. This is only our guess, Mister Bridenbaugh may have other ideas.

The line will be tougher to try and pick, but here is our guess, for the time being at least: Cennane and Zarilla at the ends, Kuhn and Biddle or Kelley at the tackles, Castrucci and Piccirillo at the guards and Ernie Adamo at center. Again let us remind you that this may not meet with the approval of the "Old Maestro".

There is a lot of fine rookie material from the various junior highs on hand this year, which is very gratifying. Among the newcomers who are destined to wear the colors of New Castle are in our belief: Dick Biddle, a big boy from Washington high, Ben Izzo and "Simber" Izzo, the Mahoningtown twins, and "Cav" Goodman and Masters, also of Washington high, and Norm Scarpa, also of Franklin.

Four Coaches On Hand

There are four fine coaches directing the work at camp: Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh, the generalissimo; George "Gig" Thomas,

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Eddie Mead, manager of Henry Armstrong and Al Weill, manager of Lou Ambers, the latter the new lightweight champion were suspended by the New York State boxing commission for "conduct detrimental to boxing" at a meeting yesterday in New York. Their antics the night of the fight tended to create a disorder, the commission decided. At various times during the fight the managers climbed upon the apron of the ring and exchanged shouted words with Referee Arthur Donovan.

Steve Kovach, Brackenridge Heights midget, won medalist honors in the national amateur golf meet at the Pittsburgh Field Club, Tuesday, with a one-under par 71 and a six for a 147 and a three-stroke lead over the field . . . The Tony Galento-Lou Nova boxing match in Philadelphia, has been set for November 15 because Nova has a cold. It was to have been fought next week . . . Bob Timmons has resigned as athletic coach at New Brighton high to accept a coaching position with Indiana State Teachers college.

The line will be tougher to try and pick, but here is our guess, for the time being at least: Cennane and Zarilla at the ends, Kuhn and Biddle or Kelley at the tackles, Castrucci and Piccirillo at the guards and Ernie Adamo at center. Again let us remind you that this may not meet with the approval of the "Old Maestro".

St. Louis Browns Rookie Pitches Slovaks To 8 To 0 Win Over Valleyites

Johnny "Feller" Carik, property of the St. Louis Brown and star pitcher of the Slovak Club, city league champs, came within a fluke infiel hit last night of entering the local Hall of Fame by allowing the Chippewa Indians of Beaver Falls, one hit in shutting them out 8 to 0, at Cedar street field.

For six innings the pitching of Carik baffled the visitors no end. He fanned four batters and issued but one free ticket to first base. His blinding fast ball, together with an assortment of curves, had the Chippewas dizzy. Bill Majeski again was the batting star for the Slovaks, getting a pair of triples and a single. Fruitt had two of the Slovak hits and Adams and Budai slugged out doubles.

Chet Orlowski pitched the seventh for the Slovaks and held the visitors hitless, fanning two men. Hayward and Allison did the Chippewa pitching.

Johnny Carik Gives One-Hit

St. Louis Browns Rookie Pitches Slovaks To 8 To 0 Win Over Valleyites

Johnny "Feller" Carik, property of the St. Louis Brown and star pitcher of the Slovak Club, city league champs, came within a fluke infiel hit last night of entering the local Hall of Fame by allowing the Chippewa Indians of Beaver Falls, one hit in shutting them out 8 to 0, at Cedar street field.

For six innings the pitching of Carik baffled the visitors no end. He fanned four batters and issued but one free ticket to first base. His blinding fast ball, together with an assortment of curves, had the Chippewas dizzy. Bill Majeski again was the batting star for the Slovaks, getting a pair of triples and a single. Fruitt had two of the Slovak hits and Adams and Budai slugged out doubles.

Chet Orlowski pitched the seventh for the Slovaks and held the visitors hitless, fanning two men. Hayward and Allison did the Chippewa pitching.

Miss Gladys Young Is Married Tuesday

Becomes Bride Of Robert
Mathay, Beaver Falls, At First U. P. Church

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 30.—A lovely bride of late August was Miss Gladys Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Young of Ewing Park, who became Mrs. Robert Mathay in an impressive, informal wedding ceremony performed on Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the First Presbyterian church.

Before a fern, flower and palm bedecked altar, Rev. W. E. Minteer officiated using the popular single ring ceremony in the presence of a large assemblage of relatives and friends of the couple. The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mathay, Beaver Falls.

Preceding the ceremony, nuptial music was played by Kenneth Bunnell and two lovely soloists "Promise Me" and "I Love You Truly" were given by Mrs. Theron Aiken.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was becomingly attired in an early fall ensemble of street length in blue velvet. She wore the new blackberry accessories and a corsage of orchids.

Miss Charlotte Rodgers, of Wayne avenue, was her only attendant and she wore a stylish ensemble of gray sheer wool with teal accessories. Her corsage was of yellow roses.

Ray McKee, of Beaver Falls, served the bridegroom as best man and Alfred Moore, of New Brighton, and Jimmy Mitchell, Beaver Falls, were the ushers.

After the congratulatory period, a reception was held at the bride's home for seventy-five guests, a number coming from the Beaver Valley, New Castle, Pittsburgh and New Wilmington. The home was attractively decorated with garden flowers and the bride's table beautifully appointed in white was centered with the traditional tiered wedding cake. Mrs. Betty McKee and Mrs. Virginia Weatherby, New Castle, and Miss Mary Louise Collins, New Wilmington, were the bridesmaids.

The bride, a graduate of the local high school with the class of '37, is one of this city's most popular young ladies. She has been affiliated with her father in the office of the Arnold Young garage. Mr. Mathay is a graduate of the Beaver Falls high school and is employed by the Hydril company at Rochester.

Later in the evening, the couple departed on a wedding trip, their destination unannounced. Returning home, they will reside in Rochester.

A collection of handsome and useful gifts were presented to the couple for use in their new home.

Market Quiets Down Today
As Sagging Tendency
Appears At Opening
To Firm Later

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—The stock market quieted down today awaiting outcome of the German-Polish crisis.

The opening was firm, after which a sagging tendency occurred in the first hour. A steady tone then developed, but the price trend showed considerable irregularity.

Such leaders as U. S. Steel and Chrysler fluctuated in a half point range.

Bethlehem Steel advanced nearly a point in the early trading but subsequently lost its gain.

Aviations scored moderate gains. Boeing was up over a point, but advances were pared later.

There were a few issues to score gains of a point and more, including Union Pacific, Union Carbide, Oliver Farms and General Foods.

On the other hand, American Can and Howe Sound dropped over a point each and General Electric was off nearly a point.

Such normally wide movers as Westinghouse and DuPont marked time. The former was unchanged and the latter slipped fractionally.

Utilities were steady while railroads showed some irregularity. Most copper was off slightly, and rubbers steady to somewhat higher.

Oils were firm as crude production was resumed in the mid-continent.

Many Repairs At Senior High School

Many Changes For The Better Are Made At School For Opening On Sept. 6

Repairs at the New Castle Senior high school have been numerous this year and have recently been completed. Janitors and custodians at the building are now in the final stages of cleaning the building for the opening of school on September 6.

Treads have been replaced on all of the building's stairways, new plumbing has been installed, roof of the building was painted as was the stairway walls, and the walls and ceilings in other rooms.

On the exterior of the building an attractive stone seat has been installed on the lawn. The seat was the gift of the graduating class of June, 1939.

Heating plant throughout the building was given a thorough going over and repairs made where needed to put it in first class shape.

In order to take care of the new class schedules, occasioned by the two-day session, new time signals to control the period bells have been installed on the master clock.

News And Views From Pennsylvania Capital

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 30.—Double barrelled efforts to force Gov. Arthur H. James to relax his rigid economy program apparently have failed.... Republican leaders from various parts of the state consistently have been "pressuring" for patronage, but the governor, staunch in his pledged belief that governmental costs must be reduced was inadmissible.... his reply to the growling was an announcement that he proposes to make a "deep going" survey of the business of the state government and of the personnel required to operate it.

The chief executive indicated that wholesale dismissals of Democratic hold overs would probably continue, but significantly added that in many instances the vacancies would not be filled.... He said he was going "to go deep" into the reasons for the employment of many people.... Numerous state positions, he claimed were entirely unessential to the efficient operation of the state government.... others could just as capably merge their functions under one head rather than being split into perhaps dozens of jobs. Gov. James asserted.

From the standpoint of general administration policy, probably the most important commission functioning at present is the joint state government commission headed by house speaker Ellwood C. Turner.... Actually, the commission likely will determine future legislative action, even as to the date of a special session and what the call will include.

In general, the commission was established (under Democratic Gov. George H. Earle and continued by Governor James, but with a decidedly revamped Republican membership) to investigate all agencies and offices of the state and local governments and to study their legislative, financial and other problems, to make for the use of the legislature studies to improve the administrative organization of the state and local governments by which waste and overlapping functions would be eliminated and economies instituted. To suggest ways and means of financing the commonwealth "upon a more scientific and equitable basis" and to gather budget information or make any other investigations which may be useful to the general assembly.

In actual practice, however, the commissioner's most immediate problem is that of solving the burdensome relief situation.... Turner himself has said that Pennsylvania will go broke if it must continue to spend $200,000,000 each biennium for relief, and indirectly admitted that new taxes would probably be necessary.... the governor has placed full responsibility for calling of the legislature with the commission and from all indications would approve any convening date recommended by Turner's group.

The juvenile court laws which become effective September 1, prohibit children less than 18 years of age from being given preliminary hearings in cases of delinquency.... Welfare Secretary E. Arthur Sweeny claimed that the bitterness of youngster toward laws and law enforcement agencies would be eliminated by law.
